Tea Hostess Compliments
Trio Of Charming Sisters

With a constantly augmented stream of guests flowing across the threshold of one of the private dining rooms at Danigers, dozens of pleasant friendships were renewed yesterday afternoon when Mrs. Urbain Henry Plavan staged a tea there in compliment to her husband's three sisters, now visiting here from three widely separated localities.

Mrs. Loren Joseph Mead, only recently arrived from Nanking, China; Mrs. Walter Guy Robbins, here from Detroit for a holiday visit, and Mrs. Ralph Gordon, down here from Oakland to complete a holiday family reunion, comprise this trio of charming sisters, long popular throughout the community as "those delightful Plavan girls."

Their prominence in county social circles made yesterday's greetings unusually warm and animated, adding to the charm of Mrs. Plavan's hospitality. The aid lent by half a dozen close friends, the charming arrangement of the table from which tea was served and the smart frocks worn by hostesses and guests alike, all contributed to the charm of the function.

In Smart Attire
Mrs. Plavan received in a formal gown of larkspur blue taffeta with an embroidered flower design in silver, accented by the corsage cluster of sweet peas she wore. Mrs. Mead wore lace in cafe au lait tones to which a cluster of ranunculus blossoms in rainbow hues, added a brilliant note. Mrs. Robbins chose black crepe with sequin bodice against which gardenias gleamed, while Mrs. Gordon wore a silver-blue crepe whose bodice and long closely fitting sleeves were in the same soft material figured with a metallic thread. Gardenias were worn in her black hair.

Mrs. Frank D. Plavan of San Juan Capistrano, did not receive with her daughter-in-law and daughters, but sat enthroned at the opposite end of the room, where all the guests lingered to chat with her and express interest in her having her daughters all with her again. She was stately in black crepe and she too wore gardenias.

On the long tea table, a modernistic grouping of shallow bowl and matching candlesticks in chromium, was reflected in a mirror plateau, where small, bronze-colored chrysanthemums leaned, Narcissus like, from the bowl to coquet with their counterparts mirrored below. There tea and coffee were poured from silver urns, by successive duos of Mrs. Plavan's friends, each of whom completed her smart afternoon costume with the graceful corsage clusters of sweet peas presented by the hostesses.

Tea Assistants
Tea hours were from 2 to 5 o'clock, and those pouring in the earlier afternoon were Mrs. Harold Brown and Mrs. George Parker, the latter a sister-in-law of Mrs. Loren Mead. They were succeeded presently by Mrs. John Tessmann and Mrs. Orlyn Robertson, who again yielded places to Miss Mary Andrews and Mrs. Elmer J. Dietrich.

Mrs. Mead and her children arrived in the late summer from war-stricken China and have been staying the greater part of the time on Balboa Island. Mr. Mead who has been with Standard Oil company in the Orient for many years, arrived barely in time to spend Christmas with his family. Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Plavan accompanied Mrs. Mead to San Francisco to meet him upon arrival there, and Mr. and Mrs. Robbins, arriving from Detroit too late to make the motor trip north, went up by plane, the whole party pausing at the Ralph Gordon home before they drove south for the family Christmas.

Among the friends invited to yesterday's tea complimenting these interesting guests, were many from a distance, including of course Mrs. Frank Plavan of the Mission Village; Mrs. Frederick Twogood and Mrs. F. Vaughn of Shanghai; Mesdames Manskie Melken, George Andrews, Arthur Boland, Wayne Schooley, Los Angeles; Mrs. Wallace Heald, La Jolla; Mrs. Lewis Moulton, El Toro; Mrs. Edward Snyder, Mrs. Arthur Schnitzer, Garden Grove; Mrs. Dick Wilson, Mrs. E. T. Chapman, Newport Beach; Mrs. M. McCallen, Mrs. F. E. Smith, Mrs. Harold Swift, Huntington Beach; Mrs. E. J. Patton, Orange; Mrs. Howard Younglove, Riverside; Mrs. W. M. Bradford, Placentia; Mrs. Clinton Woodruff, Alhambra; Mrs. Kenneth Bathgate, Whittier; Mrs. Raymond Smith, Del Monte; Mrs. Frances Fisher, Mrs. John Wheeler, Laguna Beach; Mrs. Donald Winans, Anaheim; Mrs. Worth Alexander, Tustin.

Wait A
Minute

Perhaps it is snow time in the east, if we are to believe all that is written us about swirling blizzards and ice-bound streams, but it's camellia time with Minnie and Perry (Rancher) Lewis out Tustin way, for in their rambling big garden, the camellia blossoms are just about ready to reach the height of their delicate pink loveliness. . . . With her pretty velvet dress at a party to her night, Justina (Mrs. Robert) Lowry wore a deep pink camellia garnered from a bush in her own garden, where she has a wide variety of blossoms from which to choose her pretty bouquets. Speaking of flowers and things like that, here's a pretty posy for Hazel (Mrs. L. C.) Davidson, one of those guhrand workers you dream about. She pitched in and arranged all the decorations for the Junior Ebell dinner Chew-day night as ever was—and that after working like a Trojan getting goodies ready for the children's party which Junior Ebell gals gave during the holidays.

Posies too for Florence (Mrs. Urbain) Plavan for giving so many friends opportunity to meet those three sisters-in-law of hers at a swank tea yesterday afternoon.

These honor guests were the lovely "Plavan Girls" Alma (Mrs. Loren) Mead, Edith (Mrs. Walter) Robbins and Wilma (Mrs. Ralph) Gordon and are they having a guhrand reunion, with the whole family eager to hear of Alma and Loren Mead's experiences in Shanghai, where for the past 20 years, Loren has been concerned with "Oil for the Lamps of China."

Having fun at Big Bear last week-end was Chet (Register and Jaysee) Salisbury, the like everyone else he bemoaned the fact that there wasn't much snow in them thar hills. . . . Having not so much fun was Bill (Printing Co.) Fritchler who has a plaster cast on a broken leg as a memento of an urchin in which he didn't have his innings. . . . The general exodus of college gals and men has come, so with them removed from our streets about the same time Crismus trees were taken down, we need something like those gor-gus Titian tresses of Doris (Security Nat'l) Wild or the sunny smile and sparkling eyes of Lucille (Mrs. Charles) Swanson to brighten up the Santa Any scene. . . . A bit of sympathy to Helen Blanche (U. of Ore.) Andrews over the waste of a perfectly good ticket to the East-West game because she had to entrain for Eugene on New Years Day. . . . Paw Don (Furniture) Andrews will visit his collegiate dotter early in February when he will fly north.

Any Register typewriter is "out where the West begins" when sturdy young Eddie West Jr. accompanies Maw Louise in for a brief call upon Paw Eddie (Sports) West or to Louise's old haunts in the Register soc department. Eddie Jr. is a pushover for any typewriter—strong sign that he will follow in the family footsteps. . . . Eddie and Louise by the way, are deep in the throes of building up in Broadway Park. . . . Maurine (Mrs. Floyd) Croddy will probably extend her leave of absence from the city schools while she devotes her time to pinking and blueing, with Spouse Floyd (Realty) Croddy walking on air. . . . Mabel (Mrs. Fred) Rowland rejoicing over such a complete recovery from long and tedious illness that she was able to extract every bit of joy from the holidays, with young people underfoot all the time in the mayoral home where Dotter Barbara (Scripps) vacated.

Here and There . . . Harold (In First National We TRUST) Fish and Millard (Cashier) Pearson striding backwards at noon with that suave and satisfied look that a good luncheon seems to impart. . . . Lela (Mrs. Hugh) Shields strolling along very swish indeed in burr orange with little brown coat. . . . Core (Mrs. Terry) Stephenson being accorded a wonderful greeting from all the gals at Rankins on her first shopping trip since B. H. (Before Hospital) daze in August. . . . Horace (Retired) Bolton trying unavailingly to explain to Julia Ann (Travel Bureau—Mrs. C. W.) Hyde why he should appear so soon after New Years, with a gauze bandage on his forehead. . . . Laura (Mrs. J. W.) McCormack hastening down town looking very smart in black and white, with her lovely hair peeping from beneath a black hat banded with white. . . . Harry (Assemblyman) Westover and W. B. (Ins.-Realty) Marlow deep in a discussion of the salability of some unknown commodity. . . . Milburn (Harvey and Harvey and L. B. City Attorney) Harvey getting to look more and more like Paw John A. (Also Harvey and Harvey and Sec. Title Co.) Harvey every day, and explaining that he and Frau Gladys both like living in Our Village and don't mind commuting a bit. . . . We'd like to make arrangements to board with Ann and Mason (Register Ed.) Would because fifty million tramps (more or less) can't be wrong. One of these peripathetic Knights of the

Interesting Afternoon
Planned in Honor
Of Visitors

Arrival last night from her studies at Plintridge of Miss Flo Flo Plavan, to spend the week-end with her parents, the Urbain H. Plavans, 2655 North Main street, completed a family group which today was enjoying a special outing at Santa Anita races, to be climaxed with dinner in Los Angeles tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Plavan planned the event to compliment the three sisters of Mr. Plavan, now enjoying a family reunion in the Southland centering in the main, in the San Juan Capistrano ranch home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Plavan.

In the group attending the races this afternoon were the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Plavan with Miss Flo Flo Plavan, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Mead of Nanking, China, with their son Donald Mead, Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Robbins of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Ralph R. Gordon of Oakland.

Mrs. Gordon (Wilma Plavan) was not in the Southland for the Christmas reunion in the Frank D. Plavan home, but came to Santa Ana immediately after Christmas accompanying her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Gordon on their return from a holiday visit in Oakland. She is returning north in a few days, and the Meads and Mr. and Mrs. Urbain Plavan will drive north for a short stay before Mr. and Mrs. Mead leave for a month in the east in company with Mr. and Mrs. Robbins.

Loren Mead will remain in the States with his family until spring anyway, but is confident of an eventual return to Nanking, where he has been with Standard Oil for the past twenty years.

Museum Reception Will Feature
Experiences in Mexico

Planned not only as a compliment to Mrs. Norton Gaston (Jeanne Ann Kay) but as an opportunity for Santa Anans to greet her return from Mexico and Panama and to hear some of her experiences on the extensive trip, will be a reception and address by Mrs. Gaston, announced for Sunday, January 16, in Bowers Memorial museum.

In arranging this event, Mrs. F. E. Coulter, museum curator, has sent out announcements setting the hour of 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Gaston's talk on "The Lure of Mexico." Her own phrase of a "vagabond tour" has been applied to these varied and fascinating travels of the young Santa Ana matron, for intent upon studying the country and its peoples, she paid no attention to standard travel routes, but went as fancy dictated, and in the mode of travel adopted by the natives.

Register readers will recall some of her fascinating experiences, for she sent vivid accounts of her travels. But these were only a suggestion of the wealth of material which she collected, and upon which she will draw for her talk at the Museum. Some of the curios which she brought home with her, and many others loaned for the occasion by interested friends, will be on display to add their interest to the informal address to the Mexican music for which plans are being made, and to the colorful costumes to be worn by ushers.

Travelers On Trails Of Romance

Trails of romance have beckoned these charming Orange county girls. Miss Hazel Heil, daughter of the M. J. P. Heils of Red Hill avenue, chose the new year's very beginning for announcement for her betrothal to Mr. and Mrs. E. Ray Moore of Smetzer. . . . Mrs. Robert Van Osdel was formerly Miss Ruth Walter, teacher in Laguna Beach schools and daughter of the George W. Walters of Our Village. Her marriage to Dr. Van Osdel took place December 20 in Stanford University Memorial chapel, and the young couple will live in Laguna Beach. . . . Mrs. Ray T. Bullock was a Christmas Eve bride, formerly Miss Helen F. Jones, whose wedding to Mr. Bullock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Seth Bullock, El Modena, took place in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones, 628 South Ross street. The young couple will live in San Diego. . . . Mrs. Clinton Harte was Miss Myrtle Livernash, daughter of Mrs. Josephine Livernash of Orange, and was a New Years Eve bride in Santa Ana Wedding chapel. Mr. Harte, son of Mrs. M. Harte, Huntington Park, had a home in Los Angeles ready for his bride on their return from a holiday honeymoon.

Carpenters Auxiliary
Members Entertain
Husbands

Hospitality of the Jacob Bergetter home, 230 South Garney street, was extended to a large group of guests Friday night when carpenters' auxiliary members entertained their husbands at a pleasant event.

Pinochle occupied the group for the greater part of the time. Prizes went to Mrs. Emmett Lambert and Frank Bowland, who held high and low scores.

Sandwiches, cakes and coffee were served to the group, who included the Bergsetters and Mesdames Frank Bowland, Jerome Schroth and daughter and son Eunice and Bruce, P. E. Lonon, George Rupert, O. W. Benner, Emmett Lambert, Edward Crabtree, William Titchel, H. R. Billingsley, J. N. Buckwalter.

You and Your Friends

Frederick Townner, son of Mrs. C. C. Ream, 1138 West Fifth street, plans to leave Monday evening by train for Mitchell Field, Long Island to resume his duties in the U. S. Army. . . . After a month's vacation spent in this city, he plans to travel the Southern route, stopping in New Orleans, La., for two days. Townner will spend next week with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Townner of Park avenue, New York City.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman of McFadden street, are spending several weeks with relatives in Oklahoma.

Mrs. Lula Timmons, who spent the past several months at the Florence Nightingale while recuperating from an illness, has come to her home at 1602 North Main street. Mrs. Fannie Taylor of San Barbara, who has relatives and friends in this city, is staying at the Florence Nightingale.

Mrs. H. B. Raplee of San Francisco, who is renewing many old friendships here in her former home while visiting her sister, Mrs. P. L. Topie, 330 West Washington avenue, was a guest yesterday of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Claytor, Orange Park Acres.

Road worked a couple of hours in Ann's garden for a meal, and after he had eaten, said earnestly, "Lady, that was worth some more work" and actually went back to the job!

Young Artists Assist
In Tea-musical Program

Complimenting a group of her pupils at a formal tea-musical to which their mothers and various friends were invited, Miss Beulah Parker entertained yesterday afternoon in the home of her brother and sister-in-law, the W. C. Parkers, 1426 North Garney street.

A green and gold color scheme adopted for the tea, seemed especially charming as a setting for the young people who assisted in the musical events of the afternoon. For they were all so daintily gowned in crepes, chiffons or taffetas of delicate flower hues, that they were like a flock of bright butterflies.

Program features opened with two piano duets with Miss Marian Richards and Miss Parker playing two Ganschals compositions. Miss Marian continued with a piano solo, "Indian Child" (May-bright) and two songs, "Long Ago" (Niedlinger) and the Brahms "Lullaby." Miss Parker was her accompanist, lending the same aid to other young singers on the program.

Miss Lois Bacon played Thompson's "On the Levee," followed by a demonstration of hymn and patriotic song playing, including "America" and "Away in the Manger," and closed her part of the program with a ukulele number. Miss Dorothy Anne Parker, young niece of the hostess, sang "Alleluia" by Mozart; "Japanese Love Song" by Gaynor, and "Perspicacity" by Barth.

Another niece, Miss Mary Elizabeth Coffman, sang "Alice Blue Gown" from "Irene" and exemplified the pretty song by her dainty blue frock. Little Miss Patsy Williams, a dance pupil of Estin Burks, was a special guest artist in the singing and dancing number, "The Doll Song" composed by Miss Beulah Parker. She was followed by Miss Dorothy Van Horn in the song, "Pale Moon" (Logan) and the program closed with Miss Irene Calland's piano group, a Chopin "Prelude" and Mendelssohn's "Song Without Words."

For the pleasant tea hour, Mrs. L. E. Coffman and Mrs. James Richards took their places at the chrysanthemum garlanded table where they were assisted in serving the dainties by Miss Dorothy Anne Parker.

Newlyweds To Honeymoon In San Francisco

Of interest to a wide circle of friends, was the quiet wedding occurring this morning in the flower-filled patio of Santa Ana Wedding chapel, where Miss Anna Bregar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bregar of Collins Island, Balboa, became the bride of a Santa Ana business man, John R. Price, son of Mrs. Laura Price of Los Angeles.

Only members of the two families and a few very close friends were present for the 10 o'clock service read by the Rev. Earl C. Bloss.

Miss Bregar, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart bolero costume of dusty turquoise with little pillbox hat and other dress accessories in deep mahogany shades. She had as her honor matron, her sister-in-law, Mrs. George Bregar, whose frock was of royal blue velvet. Both wore gardenias.

Assisting Mr. Price as best man was Carter Lane of this city, his partner in the brokerage business they conduct in First National bank building.

After receiving good wishes of the little group assembled for the rites, the new Mr. and Mrs. Price took an immediate departure for San Francisco. Returning from their honeymoon within the next two weeks, they will receive friends in the home awaiting them at 309 Ruby avenue, Balboa Island.

Bridge Club Luncheon
Held in Chandler Home

When Mrs. Ray S. Chandler entertained one of her bridge clubs Thursday afternoon in her home, 1911 Heliopole drive, she had the pleasure of decorating the rooms with flowers from the gardens of the home.

There were bouquets of yellow and rose snapdragons to suggest a springtime setting. Camellias centered the dining table at which luncheon was served in advance of card play.

Mrs. Donegan of San Francisco, houseguest of Mrs. Jack Neville of Anaheim, was a guest sharing the affair with Mrs. Neville, and Mesdames Gilbert Kraemer, Harold Osborne, H. Macomber, F. Strauss and Miss Laura Porter, of Anaheim and Fullerton; with Mrs. Howard Timmons and Mrs. Mark Lacy of this city; and the hostess, Mrs. Chandler.

By BEULAH MAY
Dear Don Marquis is gone, with his flashing dark eyes, his mane of white hair, his agile wit and the big noble heart of him. The world seems just a little lonely with his voice forever stilled and his typewriter gathering dust.

BREATH
We are the shaken slaves of breath; For logic leaves the race unstirred; But cadence and the vibrant word Are lords of life, are lords of death.

Not facts nor reasons absolute May touch the crowd's composite soul, But rhythm, and the drum's long roll, The orator, the arrow flute.

The gods mixed music with our clay . . . Rune-giving Odin, Krishna, Pan, Move in the running blood of man. His tidal moods they mete and sway.

Song more endures than steel or stone, Sandaled with magic syllables We glide like shades through shadowy helms,

Or soar to heaven on a tone. —Poems and Portraits.

PROEM
So let them pass, these songs of mine,

Into oblivion, nor repine; Abandoned ruins of large schemes, Dimmed lights adrift from nobler dreams.

Weak wings I sped on quests divine, So let them pass, these songs of mine.

They soar or sink ephemeral— I care not greatly which befall!

For if no song I'er had wrought, Still have I loved and laughed and fought;

So let them pass, these songs of mine;

I sting too hot with life to whine! Still shall I struggle, fail, aspire, Lose God, and find Gods in the mire,

And drink dream-deep life's heady wine— So let them pass, these songs of mine.

Lippincotts
Continue Gay
Party Series

Hospitality which began at holiday time and is extending into the later winter season is finding charming setting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Lippincott, who continued a gay series of parties last night in their home, 1651 West Fourth street.

Bouquets of chrysanthemums and peach blossoms established a refreshing springtime idea which was in keeping with a Chinese motif observed in details of a late supper interval which followed bridge play.

Also Oriental in theme were the attractively wrapped prizes which rewarded Mrs. Russell Crouse and Mrs. Ernest Ashland for their first and second high scores among feminine players; Mr. Crouse and M. D. Murphy, first and second high for men.

Peach blossoms and pink tapers added to the charms of the long table at which guests found their places for supper. Chinese dishes were utilized in serving chop suey and other toothsome viands temptingly arrayed.

Guests of the Lippincotts were Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Fink, Russell Crouse, John J. Vernon, Edward Oppen, Ernest Ashland, C. E. Hayes, Albert Jones, M. D. Murphy, R. H. Martin.

December 30 brought a festive affair at which the Lippincotts were hosts in their home. Holiday decorations prevailed, with red tapers and clusters of holly brightening the rooms. Winners in card play were Mrs. J. F. Jacoby and Courtney Chandler, who scored high; Mrs. William Holmes and O. F. Turner, second high.

Mrs. Turner assisted Mrs. Lippincott in serving refreshments to the group. Present with the hosts were Messrs. and Mesdames Herbert Allenman, Frank Arnim, O. F. Turner, J. F. Jacoby, William Holmes, John Turton and Courtney Chandler.

An earlier holiday affair drew many guests to the home for an informal social time. Open house was observed, and refreshments were served. The Lippincotts plan to continue their entertaining later in the season.

SKILLED WORKERS

"My boy must have a job. We cannot support him. He wants to go to work. He can't find a job."

"What can he do?"

"Anything."

"That won't do. There are no jobs for people who can do anything because that means they can do no one thing well. What training has the boy for earning his living?"

"What do you mean, training?"

You mean does he know a trade?"

"Yes. What trade has he studied and worked at?"

"That's just what I came to see you about. He should have a job and learn a trade, but there is no job. We've looked everywhere. He is a big boy. A young man. Eighteen years old and no work, no nothing. Now he must get work. He needs clothes and he wants money to spend. You see how it is?"

Of course. But what is to be done about it I do not see. Here are boys and girls in their early twenties, or late teens, wanting work, but they have not been trained for any sort of work. They did not get very far in school, only as far as the law obliged them to go. They are not bookish. They are potential hand-workers. And they have not been trained. Why not?

Home left that to school, and the schools have little to offer but bookwork. The few trade and vocational schools that are open in this country are not nearly enough to accommodate the children that need to attend them. What is more, they would not accept thousands of the applicants because they could not qualify. They might be skilled with their hands, but unless they could get 50 or more per cent in English, which means parsing, analyzing, and rewriting sentences taken from the classics, name the English possessions in the Pacific, recite the names of the Presidents in their order, write Yes and No five hundred times in the proper spaces, they can't enter to learn to run a lathe or tighten a bolt. Where can they go for instruction? You tell me. I don't know.

The best place for a boy to learn a trade is with the master workman, but such opportunities are scarcer than hen's teeth. The trade schools can take only a limited number and those of very high potentialities. The labor market needs skilled labor. Yet boys and girls are not being taught skills.

It seems to me that this question is vital to the progress of this nation. Its Youth must be trained to work, skillfully, happily, so they can feel self-helpful and self-respecting and the work of the country can go on. The Labor Unions must take thought of this situation. The educational forces of the country must attend to it, and speedily. The cooperation of the different groups of the community, including taxpayers, politicians, educators, labor groups and government is imperative. Young people must be trained to work. We must train them, and to that end it would be better for us to devote more time to activity in the schools and less to making marks on paper.

When War Games Become Winter Sports

Look, boys, here's a swell new idea for playing soldier in the snow, just the way the Russian army does it. There's no need for the Soviet rifleman to sash through the snowdrifts in winter when there's a tank around. They just put on their skis, grab hold of long ropes attached to the rear of the tank and hitch a ride. Now if you can only get some fellow to make a tank of his pushmobile—

Plan Silverado P-T. A. Dinner

SILVERADO, Jan. 8.—Plans were made for a benefit dinner, to be held at the schoolhouse on February 11, at the regular meeting of the Silverado P-T. A. last night. Mrs. Margaret Redmond presided at the business meeting. An impromptu program was given by members present, who were called upon for short talks and musical selections.

A special guest was Mrs. Mary Nichols, a former teacher at the school, who now lives in Silverado canyon. It was announced that the next meeting will be held February 4, when plans for the dinner will reach completion.

Burd, Herman Meierhoff, Emilia Brelje, Henry Heinemann, Fred Guenther, Walter Krage, Walter Timme, Arthur Paschall, A. W. Schmid, E. H. Kreidt, C. O. Heim, Carl Gollin and Mattie Meier.

W. R. C. ENTERTAINED

GARDEN GROVE, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Clara Laub, assisted by Mrs. Goldie Cornett, of Garden Grove, entertained members of the W. R. C. at her home on Owens drive in Santa Ana Thursday. The time was spent sewing on aprons to be sold at the next bazaar of the corps.

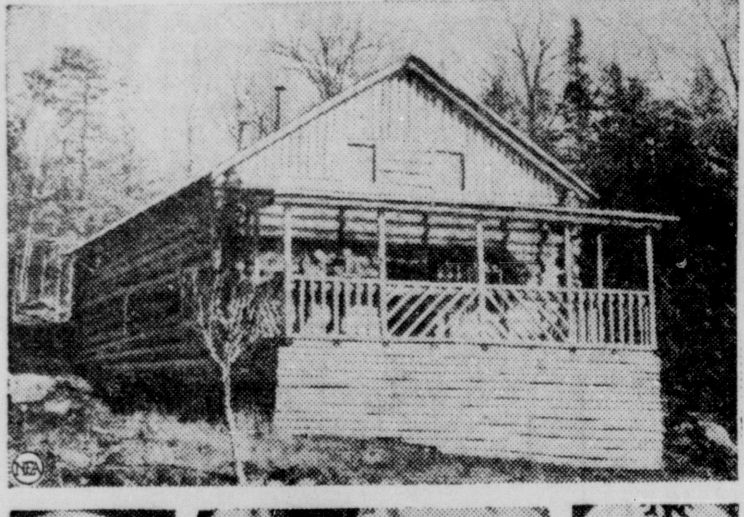

At 6:30 o'clock a pot luck dinner was served to the following: Mesdames Hattie Hausman, of Oakland; Betty Baldwin, Clara Olson, Mary Clark, Anabel Bryan, Jennie Lewis, Loretta Ferris, Lola Kimball, the Misses Helen and Catherine Claese and Eleanor Hayes and the hostesses.

Current Events Are Worthwhile Club Theme

Current events provided the theme for a meeting of Worthwhile club Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Mary Herring, 125 West Nineteenth street. Each member contributed to a varied program.

The hostess served doughnuts and coffee to the group, who included Mesdames J. H. Mitchell, George McKinney, Anna Nelson, Rena Gibson, S. H. Finley, L. A. Galloway, Edna Bruner, Elizabeth O'Brien, Margaret Wylie, Price Taylor and C. E. Millen. Mrs. Wylie will receive the group in two weeks' time.

In North Woods Mystery Death

The mystery of the lonely but luxuriously appointed hunting lodge, shown in top photo, deep in the wilds of Ontario, Canada, may be solved by the official inquest into the death of pretty Helen Grier, lower center, 28-year-old Pontiac, Mich., stenographer. Vernon Spencer, lower right, Wixom, Mich., farmer and the woman's companion on a hunting trip last October, told police he returned from a brief foray after moose and found the pajama-clad body of the stenographer in the cabin. Her head was pierced by a bullet and her skull fractured. Testimony of Dr. E. R. Frankish, lower left, Canadian medical and legal expert and authority on ballistics, was expected to shed light on the woman's death. Spencer has been held in jail as a material witness.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, Jan. 8.—Mrs. Robert Hazard was hostess at her home to Mrs. Chester Campbell, Mrs. R. R. Sues and Mrs. S. A. Miller at luncheon Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Meairs entertained as dinner guests Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Nelson and son, Raymond Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Thompson had as recent evening guests, Long Beach friends, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Fairfield, who showed interesting pictures which they took while on a vacation in Mexico. Miss Wilma Price was of the party that evening. Mrs. Virginia Fox of Santa Ana, was entertained at luncheon Thursday by Mrs. Thompson.
